From Our Executive Director

The New Horizons Foundation is a place where passion, opportunity, resources, and technical assistance come together in an atmosphere of encouragement and cooperation to help donors, project managers, and charities accomplish great things.

Some charities or individuals will come to the Foundation with passion for a particular tragedy, problem, community or people group. Other people and organizations will come with opportunities because of their connections or because they are in the midst of a problem area. Still other people will come with resources that they can give to help charities both here and around the world be responsive to the challenges and opportunities that are presented.

The New Horizons Foundation is a place where individuals, families and other foundations can receive technical assistance on how to structure planned gifts, design projects, raise funds, ensure accountability and provide logistics so that money and manpower are wisely utilized.

Charitably, the New Horizons Foundation has become a meeting ground where partnerships and collaborations occur to address significant problems and the needs of local communities and the world.
